-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

This action is in response to papers filed on July 13, 2006.

Claims 61-63 have been added.

Claims 61-63 have been withdrawn.

Claims 27, 33 and 53 have been amended.

Claims 1-60 are pending.

Claims 1-60 are rejected.

Election/Restrictions

1. Newly submitted claims 61-63 are directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons:
2. Claims 61-63 are directed to a pre-stored web document as opposed to the web document being created from the annotations in claims 1-60.
3. Claims 61-63 associating "pre-defined" data with annotations of the web document that has already been created. Where as claims 1-60 use the selected annotations to create the document.
4. Further more, claims 61-63 are using "contextually relevant information" that is not available to the user prior to the annotation of the web document. In claims 1-60 the information is not unavailable to the user outside of the document.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 61-63 withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

2. Claims 1-60 and rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by www.pricegrabber.com; retrieved from the wayback machine; any linkage February 8, 2000, hereinafter referred to as Pricegrabber.

3. As to claims 1, 20, 22, 45, 48-49 and 53-54 Pricegrabber teaches

a. A web document of a provider that stores product information in relation to product information to recognize key words in a query(Pg. 2 and 45)

b. Search engine that matches products with the user input key words(ie lists)(Pg. 4 ¶ F).

c. Engine identifies the product as matching search and creating an annotation identifying it as a match.(Pg. 15 1a-b).

As to claims 27 and 33

d. A web document of a provider that stores product information in relation to product information to recognize key words in a query(Pg. 2 and 45)

e. Search engine that matches products with the user input key words(ie lists)(Pg. 4 ¶ F).

f. Engine identifies the product as matching search and creating an annotation identifying it as a match.(Pg. 15 1a-b).

Wherein the second computer system did not provide the electronic document received on the first computer(Pg 25). The first computer supplies the electronic document .

Wherein the annotation was created by the second computer system using the key elements and corresponding identifiers provided by the first computer(Pg. 26 ). User selects a category(key element) which then annotation was selected by the users.

4. As to claims 2-4, 14-17, 23, 25, 44 and 55 Price grabber teaches code embedded by site providing service(Pg. 15 source code for pg 9-10).
5. As to claims 5-6, 28-29, 34, 36, 42, 46-47, 51-52 and 55 Pricegrabber teaches the annotations allow the for identifying matches in a search(Pg. 6 ¶ D).
6. As to claims 7-8, 13, 26, 35, 37 and 60 Price grabber teaches the search queries products based on the key words input by the user.(Pg 6 ¶ F).
7. As to claims 9 and 38 Price grabber displayed product information for comparison(Pg. 9-10).
8. As to claims 10 and 39 Price grabber teaches allowing user to gain further information about a product(Pg. 23 ¶ A).
9. As to claims 11 and 40 Price grabber teaches means for purchasing product(pg. 41 ¶ B).

10. As to claims 12, 41 and 59 Price grabber teaches the annotation as like to the products(Pg. 27, 28 L.A).
11. As to claim 19 Price grabber teaches additional information via a pop-up window.
12. As to claims 21 and 30-31 Price grabber teaches key elements as links that is transmitted from one computer to another in response to a query(Pg. 9-10, 15-19 and Pg. 42 ¶E).
13. As to claims 57-58 Price grabber teaches the service being provided by a third party provider(Pg. 4 ¶ D; Pg. 42 ¶ E).

Response to Arguments

14. Applicant's arguments filed July 13, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
15. As to applicants arguments regarding claims 1-19, 48 and 60 applicant fails to identify which of applicants claims are being argued. Examiner is unable to determine which limitations of which claims the applicant believes are not anticipated by the reference. Applicant argues that pricegrabber fails to teach 3 computer systems. The examiner notes pricegrabber teaches a user computer(consumer) a retailer(content) and pricegrabber(central)Pg. 4 ¶ D describes getting information from retailers to present to the users. As to applicants arguments that the "content" document is not stored on the content system. The examiner notes the information on the content system is obviously stored in order to be retrieved. The presentation of the information to the user is separate for the content documents, the content providers information is provided to the user in an annotated format.

16. As to applicants arguments regarding pricegrabber generating pages from it's own websited, applicant is directed to Pg. 4 ¶ D in which it teaches retrieving information from retailers and that pricegrabber merely supplies the connection and information but does not sell the products.

17. As to applicants arguments regarding claim 22 that pricegrabber not recognizing key elements that are being sent to the user from the central system and carrying out annotations by the user system. When the user selects a key element and mines down through categories the users system is creating the annotation guidelines.(Pg. 4 ¶F).

18. As to applicants arguments regarding claim 27 applicant is not claiming that certain aspects of "knowing the identity of a documents". The examiner notes pricegrabber teaches the user being able to select a specific product and the information(web document) being provided by the user. The second computer may know the identity of a document(applicant never defines what the identity is of a document) however, it is never claimed that the second computer uses that identity in the instructions that are sent to the first computer.

19. As to applicants arguments regarding claim 33 Applicant's arguments fail to comply with 37 CFR 1.111(b) because they amount to a general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references.

Conclusion

20. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
